Department of Agricultural Economics

MEET THE SPEAKERS

Troy Dumler

Troy Dumler is a K-State Extension Agricultural Economist in southwest Kansas. A native of Kansas with B.S. and M.S. degrees in agricultural economics from Kansas State University, Troy has developed an Extension program centered on farm management and agricultural policy. Recently, he has focused much of his attention on the 2008 Farm Bill, including working with farm organizations, government agencies, and Congressional offices to analyze how the new bill will impact farmers and ranchers.

Michael Langemeier

Michael Langemeier is a professor of Agricultural Economics at KSU. He has been on the faculty since 1990. Extension and research interests include benchmarking of technical and financial performance, strategic positioning, and economies of size. In addition to his extension and research program, Michael teaches courses in farm management, production economics, and managerial economics.

Bryan Schurle

Bryan Schurle has taught numerous courses in the undergraduate program, the graduate program and the Masters of Agribusiness program, including: introductory courses, computer courses, quantitative courses, agricultural finance and farm management. He is currently developing extension programs in transition planning and financial management for producers. His research program has revolved around risk issues for agriculture producers.

Rich Llewelyn

Rich Llewelyn is an Extension Assistant in the Department of Agricultural Economics at K-State. A graduate of K-State with a PhD in Agricultural Economics in 1995, he spent 10 years teaching economics and working with urban community development in Surabaya, Indonesia. He returned to Kansas in 2006 to work with the Ag-Manager.info website and departmental conferences, including the Risk and Profit conference and the Ag Profitability conferences around the state.
